

About Beverly W. Glover, Ed.D

I am honored and blessed to have been a member of the International Association of Ministers' Wives and Ministers' Widows for the past twenty-nine years. I was introduced to this organization by the late Mrs. Mella W. Brown, of Atlanta, Georgia. One of my greatest joys in life was to begin the journey in IAMWMW. My journey has afforded me the opportunity to meet many sisters and establish true friendships across geographic and denominational lines. I have seen our organization continue to grow each year into one of outstanding women bound by love and joy, walking by faith and uniting in Prayer. I have seen our sisterhood through design make a difference and improve the well being of ministers' wives and ministers' widows in our communities.

My vision for IAMWMW while building the sisterhood set before us is to, "Pursue our Purpose with Passion." Simply stated, we must be about our Father's business. Serving this present age, yet reminded of the ages to come. This theme will be guided by our actions achieved and validated through; embracing, supporting, implementing, encouraging, motivating, praying and praising! These actions will enable our organization to build, identify, train and prepare sisters who are not an integral part of our sisterhood to come on board and travel this journey with us. We will work to establish trust and engagement among the MWMW internally and externally. This can be done by creating and maintaining a bond with each sister, having an open line of communication, which includes listening and responding. We will work to build a consistent fellowship among our sisterhood by sharing ideas, strategies and information thus respecting each other for their knowledge and expertise. Lastly, we will come together with encouragement and motivation lifting our organizational banner high on the local, state, regional and International levels, strengthening our sisterly concerns.

Using my organization and leadership skills, I have served as State and local president, chapter organizer, vice president, recording secretary, committee chairperson on local, state, and regional levels. Presently, I serve as Faculty member in the Education Department and as Director of Protocol on the International level. I want to create and maintain a bond with sisters, to have an open communication, which includes listening and responding, and be a point of contact for member's concerns. I have the ability to manage the business of our organization strategically, with precession, and integrity.

Lastly, I believe with a passion that our organization, (through God's guidance) is the avenue to equip us with strong zeal for service in building His Kingdom here on earth.

Dr. Glover is the wife of Dr. W. L. Glover, Jr., pastor of Greater Zion Hill Missionary Baptist Church in Macon, Georgia. They are the parents of one adult son, a loving daughter-in-law and two grandchildren.
